General Comment

I do not believe government should be involved in health care at all. I do not believe employers should have to pay for contraceptives. What has happened to abstinence. We are not breeding animals. We have a brain and should be able to say no to sexual actions that bring unwanted pregnancies. If you take your clothes off with a member of the opposite sex guess what you will end up pregnant. It is time that we the people denied ourselves and made a conscious decision to think ahead on what the consequences in our lives will be to unplanned pregnancies. We want convenience in every area of our lives including being able to kill a child if we purposely sleep with someone knowing we could get pregnant just because we refuse to practice self control. If people want to have sex they can pay for their own contraceptives.
